

REFERRAL GUIDE

Our exceptionally skilled Mid-Atlantic Women's Care physician colleagues are trained in several obstetrics and gynecology subspecialties. Refer your patients to fellow MAWC providers!

GHIAS A. RANA, MD, FACOG

OB/GYN Specialists for Women

Dr. Rana is board certified by the American Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology – Urogynecology. He specializes in female pelvic medicine, such as urinary incontinence, overactive bladder, fecal incontinence, recurrent urinary tract infections and female pelvic prolapse. More information

NAVED JAFRI, MD, FACOG

Obstetrics & Gynecology Associates of Hampton

Dr. Jafri was among Hampton Roads' first board-certified subspecialists in Urogynecology and Female Pelvic Medicine and Reconstructive Surgery. His areas of interest include pelvic relaxation management and providing sensitive care and education to women with urinary incontinence or pelvic floor disorders. More information

MARY A. BURNS, MD, FACOG

Virginia Beach Obstetrics & Gynecology

Dr. Burns is fellowship trained in urogynecology and female pelvic medicine and reconstructive surgery. She specializes in urinary incontinence, interstitial cystitis and prolapse of the vagina, bladder and/or uterus. She has had extensive experience in surgery, cystoscopy and urodynamics. More information

KATHERINE HINES, MD, FACOG

Virginia Beach Obstetrics & Gynecology

A fellowship trained urogynecologist, Dr. Hines has received advanced multidisciplinary training in the management of complex pelvic floor disorders including urinary and fecal incontinence, pelvic organ prolapse, urogenital fistula, sexual dysfunction and bladder pain syndrome. More information